

Laying the foundations

The future of capital finance and infrastructure

Conference programme

30th May 2012

8.30am – 2.00pm

City of London, Venue TBC

8.30am Registration

9.30am Welcome from conference chair

9.40am Session 1

The Current State of Play

A session to set out the current context for capital finance and what options are available to local authorities.

Covering such issues as:

- Capital spending reductions and likely future trends
- Current infrastructure needs
- Local Government's response in the short term to the capital funding challenge
- How the market is responding

10.30am Session 2

The alternatives...

A session to explore the long term alternatives to the PWLB and what steps are currently being taken to make them a reality.

Covering such issues as:

- The potential uptake of local government bonds, either wholesale or retail
- Use of TIF or LABV to fund major projects
- The potential for a LGFA to emerge

11.15am Coffee Break

11.30am Session 3
What can partnership achieve?

A session to explore from, a private sector perspective, what types of future partnership might be available and what support the private sector can provide to help provide the next wave of infrastructure projects.

Covering such issues as:

- How the private sector has been dealing with the capital short fall
- What long term options does the private sector see emerging as an panacea to our infrastructure needs
- What can local government and the private sector do in the short term to make progress and build a solid foundation for future projects

12.15pm Closing Keynote speech
How government is supporting the next wave of major infrastructure projects

This will be a 15 minute set speech followed by a 25 minute Q&A

12.55pm Thanks and Summary

1.00pm Lunch

2.00pm Session close

Kindly hosted by

