WHOLE SYSTEMS
COMMISSIONING FOR COUNCILS AND
THE VOLUNTARY SECTOR

METHODOLOGY

WHOLE SYSTEMS COMMISSIONING

- Putting the person at the centre of the commissioning process
- Collaboration between commissioners and providers
- Collaboration between providers

PUTTING THE PERSON AT THE CENTRE

“We need to go to the community directly, ask what they want, and establish a meaningful dialogue”

“Start with what he has rather than what he has not”

COLLABORATION BETWEEN COMMISSIONERS AND PROVIDERS

“Better collaboration from both sides is needed”

“We need to make the case for engagement in a cycle”

COLLABORATION BETWEEN PROVIDERS

“The reason people fall through the net is because they are signposted to so many different people and no-one takes responsibility”

“It is difficult to expect partnerships to continue to run when not funded to do so”

RECOMMENDATIONS

- Make social value more than a 'duty to consider' and, where more appropriate, continue to provide grants for lower value, specialist contracts.
- Continuous ongoing dialogue between all partners.
- Commissioners need to incentivise whole system behaviour.
