Dr Henry Kippin, Chief Executive, Collaborate CIC
Jessica Studdert, Deputy Director, NLGN

11:05 KEYNOTE SPEAKER: Lord Victor Adebowale, Chair, Collaborate and Chief Executive, Turning Point

11:35 MAKING THE SHIFT FROM SERVICES TO SYSTEMS:

The Place-based Health Commission final report made the case for a shift from separate services for health and care working to their own organisational priorities, towards working as place-based systems. This involves cultural and behavioural change as well as practical organisational realignment around shared outcomes. A number of different place-based initiatives – STPs, vanguards and local Better Care Funds – are means through which this is happening already. This session will consider the practical experience of what is working well and where there are barriers that still need to be overcome.

CHAIR: Claire Kennedy, Managing Director, PPL

Niall Bolger, Chief Executive, London Borough of Sutton
Duncan Selbie, Chief Executive, Public Health England
Jo Bibby, Director of Strategy, The Health Foundation

PUTTING PEOPLE AT THE HEART OF A PLACE-BASED APPROACH

If we are to achieve a sustainable shift towards prevention and embed health as a social movement, people themselves need to be much more engaged at all levels. The system has to shift to incorporate people's voices as part of service redesign, work with rather than around existing assets in communities, and enable a healthy democratic dialogue as part of the reform process. This session will explore how this is being pursued in practice and how the role of the citizen can become much more embedded in place-based health.

CHAIR: Sarah Billiald, Chief Executive of First Community Health and Care, Surrey

Nick Dixon, Commissioning Manager, Stockport Council and Vanguard Lead – Empowering Patients and Communities

Dr Anant Jani, Associate Fellow, Nuffield Department of Primary Care Health Sciences, University of Oxford.

Liz Windsor-Welsh, CEO, Action Together (Oldham and Rochdale)

PLACE-BASED HEALTH – MAKING IT HAPPEN

This final session will bring together the discussions during the day to address the core question of how place-based health can be achieved in practice. What is the role for local stakeholders, and for national government in driving and enabling this?

CHAIR: Dr Dame Jane Roberts, Chair of NLGN and consultant in child and adolescent psychiatry

SPEAKERS:

William Roberts, National Lead, Enhanced Health in Care Homes, New Care Models, NHS England

Mike Adamson, Chief Executive, British Red Cross

Dr Ben Gatenby, Chair, South & East Leeds GP Group
